VERIZON NEW ENGLAND INC.

DESCRIPTION OF CUSTOMER PREMISES EQUIPMENT

If a customer of Verizon cable television service elects to receive only the analog service offering of the Company, and if that customer's television set is "cable ready", there will be no need for any additional customer premises equipment supplied by Verizon.

If a customer of Verizon cable television service does not have a "cable ready" television set, or if the customer elects to receive digital cable programming from Verizon, a set top box ("STB") will be required at each television set where the customer desires to receive the signals. The Company intends to offer more than one type of STB, and the customer will select the STB appropriate for the level of service that customer selects. Each STB will be accompanied by a remote control device.
